PCA plans for 1,000 tonight

Missouri Commissioner of Agriculture James B. Boillot will speak tonight at the Sikeston Production Credit Association's annual stockholders meeting at 7 p.m. in front of the Sikeston High School band shell.

An estimated 1,000 persons are expected to attend the meeting, for which Boillot will be making his first visit to the Bootheel area since being appointed commissioner of agriculture early this year by Gov. Christopher Bond.

Boillot, 37, of Kingdom City is past president of Missouri Pork Producers Association, 1966-70 board member of Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, 1964-67 president of Calloway County Farm Bureau, 1964-67 baord member of Missouri Livestock Association.

He holds a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry and a master's degree in meat technology from the University of Missouri.

Airliner with 120 hijacked

TEL AVIV (AP) — A Lebanese jetliner carrying 120 persons from Libya to Lebanon was hijacked today over the Mediterranean and forced to land at Lod airport here.

Edmond Ghosn, director general of Beirut Airport, said the Boeing 707 carrying 110 passengers and 10 crew members was hijacked by "unknown persons on board" over the Mediterranean.

"Someone is pointing a gun at my head saying he has seized the plane and ordering me to preceed to Lod airport," the pilot's last radio message said, according to Ghosn.

The plane landed at Lod airport under escort of two Israeli fighter jets, according to Israeli authorities.

Israeli state radio said two passengers hijacked the Middle East Airlines flight. The hijackers, not identified by nationality, boarded the plane in Libya, the radio said.

The Israeli state radio said the plane was commandeered over the island of Cyprus.

As the plane landed in Tel Aviv, troops sealed off the airport.

In Beirut, a spokesman for the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist guerrilla group responsible for several hijackings in the past, said no members of that guerrilla group were on the flight.

Relatives of passengers waiting for the plane in Beirut were told it would be five hours late. The airport runways were deserted. No planes were landing or taking off, indicating it had been closed to air traffic.

Charges against eight young people arrested July 8 during a disturbance at the Park- A- Lot Drive In on East Malone Avenue were dismissed in City Court Wednesday by city attorney Manuel Drumm.

Malden man found dead

MALDEN — Henry Walter Luallen, 80, of Malden was found dead in his car about noon Wednesday, two miles west of Doniphan on Highway 160.

Ripley County Coroner Howard Jackson said today death was due to natural causes. Apparently Luallen had pulled off the road near a sawmill late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning to sleep. His shoes were off and he was leaning back against the seat. A spokesman for the Stoddard County Sheriff's department said the heater was running and that it had been rather cool Tuesday night.

The body was found by saw mill workers, who had noticed the car about 7 a.m., but thought nothing of it, since many people pulled off the road at the spot to sleep.

He was born Dec. 6, 1892.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Pauline Rickard of St. Louis; one half brother, Bill Luallen of Pittsburg, Calif.; one grandson and three great-grandchildren.

'Let courts decide Watergate guilty'

Nixon appeals to nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming anew he was not involved in the Watergate scandal, President Nixon has appealed to the nation to let the courts decide the guilt or innocence of individuals involved.

"The time has come to turn Watergate over to the courts where the questions of guilty or innocence belong", Nixon said. "The time has come for the rest of us to get on with the urgent business of the nation."

Nixon accepted full responsibility for the actions of his aides "because the abuses occurred during my administration and in the campaign for my re-election." He also defended his decision not to turn over presidential tape recordings to the special Watergate prosecutor or

Young woman found dead in her home

Rita Darnall, 21, of 206 Bynum, was found dead in her home shortly after 2 a.m. today by her mother, who was trying to find out why she had not kept an appointment earlier in the day.

Scott County Coroner Gene Nunelee said an autopsy would be performed this morning, but that it might be several days before the cause of death is known.

Mrs. Darnall's mother, Mrs. Maggie Skinner, 927 Lake, went to the house after her daughter failed to show up at another woman's house to baby sit.

Mrs. Skinner went to the house sometime Wednesday and then returned this morning. She entered the house through a window and found her daughter dead on the couch.

Nunnelee said the woman had been dead for several hours before she was found.

She was born July 7, 1952 in Sikeston and was the Lions take vertigo test

Two members of the Sikeston Lions Club Wednesday had an opportunity to take part in a vertigo test given by Joe Harrington, safety specialist for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The test, which is used to familiarize pilots with the sensation of disorientation, was given to George Hale and Art Hobbs.

Both men were spun around in a rotating chair. Over their eyes Harrington put a cover that had two blue lights in the center. Since the men could see only the lights, the sensation of disorientation was strengthened.

Both men were told to put their heads down and then were spun to the right. After a few moments, they indicated by hand signals that they had come to a stop and then began spinning to the left. Actually, they were still spinning in the same direction and had not stopped.

Finally, Harrington told them to raise their heads. Both men were gripped by a nauseating sensation caused by intense disorientation. It took a few moments for the men to become reorientated.

Harrington said pilots are given the test to teach them not to make sudden head moves or move the controls while experiencing vertigo.

The normal reaction of a pilot experiencing vertigo is to grab the controls and straighten out the plane. Since it is the pilot's head and not the plane that is spinning, moving the controls could be a disaster.

There has been a drop in the accident rate among small planes in recent years, Harrington said. The record is normally excellent until November or December, when almost as many accidents occur as during the rest of the year, he said.

The chief reasons for the jump in the accident rate are bad weather and the pilot's hurry to get somewhere for the holidays.

Harrington also showed a movie stressing general aviation and flight safety.

Court authorizes new tax policy

BENTON — The Scott County Court has instructed the county assessor's office to begin Jan. 1, 1974, placing on the county real estate tax books new property under construction according to its degree of completion.

The assessor will determine the degree of construction completion in relation to the estimated final cost of the property as stated on the building permit or estimated value of any other building materials on the property.

On property with earth work and foundation completed, 25 per cent of the final assessment will be placed on the current year's tax books.

On property 40-60 per cent completed, 50 per cent of the final assessment will be placed on the tax books.

For property 60-80 per cent completed, 75 per cent of the final assessment will be placed on the tax books.

Fred Graham is counselor and Mrs. Alice Jackson the librarian.

Mrs. Luanne Urhahn will be the school nurse with her office in the elementary building.

Lunches will be served the first day of school. Due to the increased cost of food and the fact that the lunch program will not receive commodity foods as in past years, the cost of lunches for students has been raised to 50 cents this year. Cooks will be Mrs. Betty Benson, Mrs. Oma Diamond, Mrs. Carolyn Duff, Mrs. Luvina Hennemann, Mrs. Frances Miller and Mrs. Pearl Morrow.

VETERANS'
GENERATION GAP

Much has been written about the problems that Vietnam veterans encounter in readjusting to their families, friends, and civilian employers. But coming to terms with veterans of earlier wars can be equally as difficult. What might be called the veteran generation gap is of growing concern to the nation's largest veterans' organization, the American Legion, which will hold its 55th annual convention in Honolulu starting Friday, Aug. 17.

Assessing the current state of the American Legion, Julius Duscha wrote (The Nation, Aug. 13, 1973): "Into the veterans' world have been mixed the six million men and women who served in the armed services during what the [Veterans Administration] and the Pentagon still euphemistically call the Vietnam era, and they are people whose needs are far different from those of the aging World War II veterans who now dominate the Legion, the other veterans groups and the VA."

Unlike the veterans of the two world wars, Vietnam veterans have shown little inclination to form a special interest bloc. They have neither created a new organization with a mass base nor have they joined in significant numbers and sought to influence the older veterans' organizations. The American Legion claims that 450,000 of its 2.7 million members served in Vietnam. It appears, however, that many of these new members are career military men whose enlistments happened to expire during the past nine years.

If the Legion is to survive as a political force, it must find some way of attracting large numbers of young Vietnam veterans. As Duscha pointed out, the Grand Army of the Republic faded from the scene when the Civil War veterans group refused to take in veterans of the Spanish- American War. World War II veterans and Vietnam veterans may have different views on war and patriotism. But they do have a common interest: seeing to it that the federal government continues to provide a full range of veterans' benefits.

"Surely it ought to be apparent by now, billions upon billions of dollars later, that 'hrowing the taxpayers' money -- scatter- gun fashion -- at one problem after another doesn't guarantee solutions; that a poultice of money doesn't cure a social boil; that often there's little correlation between dollars spent and results achieved; that too many government dollars are going into the pockets of those who are handing out the handouts; that government can't better fight poverty, or educate backward kids, or build model cities or mass housing, or rid the ghettos of rats; that no matter their noble intent, laws can -- and do -- many times create at least as many problems as they solve, and that there are those in Congress, even today, who are evidently unaware -- or unconvinced -- that we can no more spend ourselves rich than we can drink ourselves sober." -- Mr. Ed Grady, director of information, Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

When the doctors tell a man he can't get well, and he does, what wonderful will power he thinks he has!

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The deadest art in America is the art of listening. You can hardly hire anybody, even a psychiatrist, to listen to anymore. Everybody wants to be heard; when everyone talks at once, who is left to listen? What we need is a National Clam-Up Day during which everyone, from child to centenarian, would shut up and enjoy himself — and perhaps listen to the echoes of some of the wise things said but unheard yesterday.

About the worst thing you can tell a woman is that she snores. No woman will admit she does. But it is a feminine delusion that only men snore. The medical fact is that men and women snore about equally, that is, in actual numbers. But in quality of performance, the snoring of women is far inferior to that of men. No woman could ever match the depth of wheezy raspings, bottomless gurgles, stentorian sighs, cacophonous snorts, and snorous roars of a fat, middle-aged man sleeping off a huge dinner of pig knuckles, sauerkraut and beer.

The biggest problem in the average business office is what to do with a homely girl who can't spell either — but who is too nice to fire.

About the most useless thing on earth is a picturesque post card from someone you dislike who could afford to go to a better vacation resort than you went to.

No matter how much smarter you are than the other fellow, you are always willing to listen to his advice on two subjects — how to cure the hiccups and how to get rid of a cold.

Most men go to their graves secretly convinced, no matter how many other goodies life showered on them, that somehow or other they never managed to get their fair share of sex. And they wonder who did get it.

God never made a canyon, man never dug a well, as deep and empty as the drained faces of tired people you see any day in a New York City subway. They look as eroded and changeless as an abandoned farm, fixed by time in hoplessness. Nothing shows more dramatically what is wrong with civilization than this expression on subway faces.

Heaven might get more recruits if one of its attractions was more often pointed out: it is the one place left where you can go and get away from inflation. You can also escape death and taxes there.

STATE INFORMATION OFFICE BECOMES A POLITICAL ISSUE

The Missouri Information Service, an innocent - sounding new office on the first floor of the Capitol, has become another point of controversy between Democrats and Republicans.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond established the office shortly after his term began in January. It was to provide more news and executive agencies — those that are under the Governor's direction — so that citizens could become better informed about state government.

But Democrats contend it has turned into a publicly financed propaganda agency, which is indirectly boosting the Governor's image around the state.

"It's nothing but Bond's personal public relations outfit financed by the taxpayers," charged Will W. Davis, executive director of the state Democratic Party.

Davis and other critics say that the regular reporters assigned to the state capital have been able to gather the news worthy of being reported.

Most of the stories and recordings supplied by the information service are simply excuses for the Governor to get his name in the newspapers or his voice on radio or television, critics say.

A case in point, they say, occurred last week when the Governor to get his name in the newspapers or his voice on radio or televisions, critics say.

A case in point, they say, occurred last week when the Governor signed three consumer bills that had been passed by the Legislature.

The bills were passed largely through the efforts of their legislative sponsors, with some assistance from the consumer affairs division division of the Attorney General's office. The Governor's role was minimal, except for signing them into law.

Yet, through an information service recording of the Governor's comments when signing the bills, many radio stations beamed his voice to thousands o listeners.

At least one St. Louis television station taped an interview with the Governor about "his" consumer bills.

The criticism is dismissed by supporters of Bond as simply being politics. "Davis is doing what he's getting paid to do," said one aid. The Governor once labeled the criticism as "hogwash."

Bruce Blomgren, 27 years old, the director of the service, maintains there has been a void of information in Missouri about state agencies.

He said the regular capital reporters do not have the time or the manpower to adequately cover the agencies.

He points, for example, to a story released by the information service that no oil companies had bid on the state fuel contract for next year. The story he said, had gone undiscovered by capital reporters until his office released it.

Recently, the service has been helping promote the State Fair.

James Church, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Jefferson City, says the service provides him the news he ordinarily wouldn't have time to find.

But another Associated Press reporter, Roy Malone, is more critical. Malone admits that the service sometimes provides legitimate news to reporters. But he says that most of the news is slanted to favor the Governor or Lieutenant Governor.

Malone points to a recent controversy between Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps and Senator William J. Cason. Cason succeeded in having Phelps dismissed from presiding over the Senate. The service carried two recorded interviews with Phelps for radio stations, but did not bother to ask Cason for his views.

On the other hand, Malone said, Cason's press secretary did not solicit Phelps's comments when he put out Cason's views in a press release.

Ted Griffith, executive director of the Missouri Broadcasting Association, says he has warned the 165 radio stations in Missouri of the threat of government propaganda emanating from the information service.

Griffith says that the service's recordings, or "actualities" as they are called in the trade, are an attractive free service to many stations, especially smaller ones in rural areas where news sometimes is scarce, and staffs are small.

"Any time you can add a voice to a newscast it's better than just reading the news," Griffith asserted.

Griffith is skepticaly of the stories put out by the service and doubts that most are newsworthy enough to be broadcast by most radio stations, especially in metropolitan areas.

"I don't think they're ever going to have many takers," he says, in noting a lack of comment about the service in broadcasting circles.

Still newsmen at two St. Louis radio station, KSD and KMOX, said they had worked the service's call number into their daily routine of news checks and had used recordings at least two or three times a week.

Both said they were on guard against propaganda and when they spotted it, they attempted to get a counter viewpoint.

Both thought that the recordings were probably used more by smaller stations.

The information service was denied an appropriation by the Legislature, but was created with $75,000 from the budget of the Office of Administration. Blomgren expects the service to be financed next year.

But Representative James (Jay) Russell (Dem.), Florissant, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he opposes spending new money on the service.

"Many of us thought it would be used for propaganda for the Governor," Russell said. He said he had no objections to the Governor having a press secretary to help in dealing with the media, "but these people are just trying to build his image."

Still, Russell conceded, it is doubtful whether the Legislation can stop the financing of the service if the Governor requests funds for it to be included in the Office of Administration.

Besides Blomgren, the information service employs a person in charge of radio and television, a newswriter and a secretary. Another writer will soon join the staff. All are on the payroll of the Office of Administration, except the newswriter, who is paid by the Department of Revenue.

Blomgren took his job after working in the Illinois Information Service under former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

At its peak before last year's election, the Illinois agency employed 68 persons and had a budget of $525,000.

Persons working in the Illinois agency now concede that they were "grinding out press releases by the carloads," for Ogilvie and much of their time was spent promoting the Governor's re-election.

With Ogilvie's defeat, the Illinois office has been reduced to a staff of 24 persons and a budget of $300,000, about the same size as before Ogilvie took office.

Allan Woods, an aid to Bond, denied that the service in Missouri would ever be used for political campaign purposes or that it would be increased at election time.

"If it grows, it will grow at the urging of the agencies it is serving," Woods said, in noting that its staff was sufficient already to handle information about the Governor's office. Besides the help of the information service the Governor has two press secretaries.

Woods conceded that the Governor could indirectly expand the service by suggesting to the heads of agencies — people he appoints — that they request additional personnel. But Woods denied that the Governor would ever do that.

IT MUST BE GOOD

Did you know that the three major networks spent $5,403,405 in 1967 on advertising in newspapers? That is only on national advertising! Just add to it all the local station advertising and the million spent by television manufacturers and you get an idea of television's commitment to newspapers.

Surprised?

You shouldn't be!

Television stations know that when you mix the right media in the right proportions, the sum of an advertising campaign is worth more than the parts. Especially if one part is a large helping of newspaperability.

Newspapes do more than deliver readers. Newspapers amplify the effects of the best campaign. It puts the "rush to the store" immediacy, creates a selling atmosphere in addition to filling in the facts.

That's why an advertising budget without newspapers is like a car without wheels ... or TV without newspaper advertising!

SALUTE TO TEXAS RANGERS

The Texas Rangers, proud in tradition and accomplishment, celebrated their 150th anniversary recently. In a ceremony attended by many dignitaries, the Rangers turned earth for a new memorial building at Waco. There the memories and mementos of the famed law-enforcement agency will be enshrined. The record of the Rangers is filled with many famous case histories and the names of many brave men who have made Texans feel a sense of security since the early days of the state when the raids of marauding Indians and the violation of the southern border were commonplace.

The Ranger of today still wears a wide- brimmed hat and boots, but he is equipped with more than a pistol and horse. Fast communications and rapid transportation help him bring to hand the modern criminal, be he a cattle thief or a bank hijacker. He pursues his trade like any well- trained detective. Still, the towering presence of a Texas Ranger adds impetus to any investigation he enters. Local officers attest to the splendid cooperation of the Texas Ranger companies when they enter a case.

"One riot, one Ranger," the legends still surround the outstanding contributions of the Rangers, who form a special force within the Texas Department of Public Safety. Teamwork, however, is the word the modern- day Ranger emphasizes. Rangers know that law- enforcement teamwork is the key to the solving of crimes and the preventing of others.

I have been priviledged to be named an honorary member of the association of former Rangers, and I join in saluting the Ranger force of today and paying homage to the tradition of Texas Rangers of other years. HLH

Blood Money:

Nationally Powerful Pipefitters Local Spurns U. S. Demand for $20 Million Political Fund Records

WASHINGTON--- It's all intertwined with bombs, bullets, alleged rackets, murders, exploding cars, and an unprecedented federal search for elusive records of a $20 million "Voluntary, Political, Educational, Legislative, Charity and Defense Fund" of just one local plumber's union.

For the moment it's concentrated in St. Louis, Mo., where some musclehood has been playing so rough it makes Chicago's olden days and today's New York gutters seem like summer kindergarten day camps.

A medical check on the most recent of the bomb-blasted victims, a young, tough business agent, 27- year- old Tom Callanan, of Pipefitters' Local 562, shows that he lost both legs above the knees, one hand, one eye and both ear drums were punctured when his mob- wired car blew up last June 15.

He is surrounded by bodyguards. The investigators and those presenting evidence to a grand jury probing the AFL- CIO local affiliate of the plumbers brotherhood have had difficulties getting to him. For the moment, the previous beatings, shootings, murders and wirebombings in this milieu are not vital to this report.

Fact is that the federals believe that the union's so-called voluntary fund has assets of $20 million. And that millions more have been contributed to politicians over some three decades.

And that the union is defying federal requests for records of this fund, for names of contributors and for details of its operations.

Fact is that these moneys, taken from the 1,700 members of this strategic construction union, have been poured into national political campaigns.

Thus the crack Justice Dept. anti- organized crime strike force directed by Thomas Bockrodt has called on as many federal agencies as it can to probe the local.

Concentrating on Local 562 now are the investigating force of the Labor Dept.'s Labor-Management Relations section (which ran the United Mine Workers' election last year), the Treasury Dept.'s Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the IRS, the FBI under its new gun- carrying Director Clarence Kelley who is from Missouri, and some local authorities.

The Labor Dept. investigators are poring over the Local's records. It has requested a full accounting of the past "voluntary" fund records. The union has refused.

Not incidentally are the 1972 administrative costs of the so- called Voluntary fund--- $172,672. That's high cost administration for a fund which allegedly had only a balance on January 1, 1973 of $171,214.53.

"The U. S. Dept. of Labor had instructed us to submit LM- 2 reports (Labor-Management reporting documents required of all unions - VR) for earlier years, reporting the receipts to the Voluntary, Political, Educational, Charity and Defense Fund," says the Local 562 1972 official report, filed a few months ago.

"...The attorneys for the Union have continuously advised that this information is not properly includable in the LM- 2 reports. The said attorneys are still of this opinion in spite of the instruction by the Labor Department.

"The same information as requested by the Labor Department for the earlier years is furnished herein under protest and duress for the current year (1972), and shall not be, under any circumstances taken as an admission that this information need be included in the LM- 2 reports or that these funds or activities are in any way funds attributable to or are funds or activities of the Union.

"The Secretary- Treasurer of the Union does not have any records of the Voluntary, Political, Educational, Legislative, Charity and Defense Fund. The Union's independent accountant has summarized the records of the...Fund based on information furnished without verification.

"An action is pending in which the United States is seeking disclosure of names of contributors to the Fund."

Where then are the records? Why then do union spokesmen go into the field, on the sites and in the plants, to collect a dollar or two a man per day for this fund if it is not part of Local 562's activity?

We're not dealing with tiddlywinks here. Tens of millions of dollars are involved. To what national candidates, Congressional nominees, even local hopefuls across the U. S. did this money go?

And was the full amount spent? Or is some of it invested in real estate? Or hotels with gambling casinos attached? Why all the secrecy and blood?

Not only do the authorities want to know. A band of courageous members now are asking questions. They want to dump the incumbent chief officer, the $42,000- a- year Virgil Walsh, business manager. They want a new election. They don't want to wait until June 1975, the next scheduled election.

They are saying they're being discriminated against and are losing their jobs. Also not incidentally, the government has brought an action against 562 to end the alleged denial of equal opportunity to minority groups. The charge says many are being denied union membership.

The rebels are asking what gives this small local such vast national power. Who are its protectors? Who benefited from its millions of political dollars?

Why is the local not in trusteeship? Why is it not being taken over by the courts as was the miners union? How can it so blatantly defy the U. S. Labor Dept.?

Obviously this is an even more gory and more significant story than the ghastly miners mystery. And it has only just begun, if the federal agents have what they believe they have.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

The System Does Work

WASHINGTON-- Sooner or later, Sen. Sam Ervin, jowls wobbling and brows popping, will loose upon the country another Biblical admonition: Woe unto the world because of offenses! For it must needs be that offenses come; but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh.

That one seems a natural for the wise old senator because it proclaims the inevitability that man will transgress and the requirement that he be deterred. This is forgotten today by many who, sickened by scandal piled upon scandal, fear the American system has gone sour and no longer works. But before we give up on it, let's recall just what our system is and what it is not.

If the noble experiment of 1776 had been based on the hope that American officials would be naturally honest and decent, the presidents and generals would never lie, that bureaucrats would uphold the law, that judges would always be just and that congressmen wouldn't cheat, we would have to concede that their scheme had turned out a sorry fiasco.

But the government was founded upon the opposite assumption: that rulers may be conditioned and constrained to do right but, in their natural state, they must ever be suspect of the worst follies and sins.

So it was that the fathers inscribed on our founding documents an indictment of homo politicus, per se, and a litany of the iniquities of George III, along with a prediction that his American successors would turn out no better if left to their own resorts.

The fathers set about restricting the mischief of officaldom by limiting its powers and by dividing up such powers as were permitted among different branches, so that each might act as a check on the others. A large portion was left to the people and the press, along with the obligation to act as watchdog.

But we forget our constitutional obligation to be exacting taskmasters toward the temporary stewards who use our money and authority. We backslide and begin to equate citizenship with mere obedience, and patriotism with symbols, songs and reverence toward office holders. And we get a secret war in Cambodia, an ITT case, a Watergate.

Does this mean our structure of state is foundering? I think not. Our fathers protected us against our own negligence. The American system was constructed like a battleship, with successive rings of watertight compartments. At any given time, only one or two need hold to keep the ship afloat.

IF ALL CHECKS COLLAPSE

When the threat comes, say from the presidency as in Watergate, the structure sinks only if all its checks collapse-- only if the press fails to expose, the opposition party declines to oppose, the public neglects to care, Congress refuses to resist, the courts demur from the law.

In the light of Watergate, how has the system held up? Transgressions came against our liberties, against decency, against the law, against the electoral process itself, as our forefathers had foreseen.

But even the trespassers were restrained by our traditions. It may be said for the President and the men around him that they attempted no frontal coup. Their illegalities were attempted on the sly; their aggrandizements were pressed only as far as the traffic would bear.

The response? Some reporters did their job of investigation. The opposition party went to court and, though tempted to settle for money, refused to do so. A slow trickle of truth began inexorably to command events. Public indignation built up, slowly but surely. Congress, led by a venerable gentleman from North Carolina, who for many years has carried a copy of the Constitution around in his pocket, rose to the occasion.

SIRICA

The courts were redeemed in the person of Judge John Siricia, who would not accept a coverup, however well packaged. And around the country, juries, polls and legislative majorities have repudiated the un- American claims to power. The antidotes of the fathers, like a physic of delayed but wondrous potency, are working their will.

Men are prone to look first at outward appearances. To many of our people and to querulous populations around the globe, America must appear in torment and turmoil; the President on the run, the FBI and CIA compromised, the government paralyzed, the market jittery, TV serials interrupted, all started by a little break- in.

Yet the ill wishers must begin to wonder at this marvel of liberty, as they see the leader of the foremost nation of the world, who commands great armies and treasuries, waiting glumly upon the verdict of a free people as to what was the truth about a burglary.

For me, it is a spectacle to set the spine tingling with that boyhood price of country.

Monthly benefits total $715,600

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Scott County at a rate of $715,600 a month at the close of 1972, Clifford Forsee, Social Security manager in Cape Girardeau, said today.

Of 5,790 Social Security beneficiaries living in Scott County, 3,482 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 1,444 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 864 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Forsee pointed out that although most Social Security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of four is under age 60. In Scott County, 1,605 people under age 60 are collecting Social Security payments each month.

Many are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting Social Security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the beneficiaries in Scott County between 18 and 22 years of age are getting student's benefits under a provision in the Social Security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in the 18-22 age group, Forsee said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the Social Security program provides workers of all ages. Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 22 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting.

The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Association will focus meeting on food costs

POPLAR BLUFF— "Controlling Food Costs" will be the topic of the Southeast Missouri chapter of the Missouri Restaurant Association at a meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Holiday Inn.

With the skyrocketing cost of food today putting a serious squeeze on foodservice operations, the area restaurateurs will host a nationally recognized industry authority, Jack E. Miller, chairman of the Hotel and Restaurant Department at Forest Park Community College in St. Louis.

Miller has headed the department since its creation in 1963 after receiving his degree in hotel and restaurant administration and working 10 years within the industry.

In addition to directing the hotel and restaurant program at Forest Park Community College, which has grown to an enrollment of 200 with six instructors, Miller has staged seminars around the nation for the National Restaurant Association and is on the editorial board of a major technical publishing company.

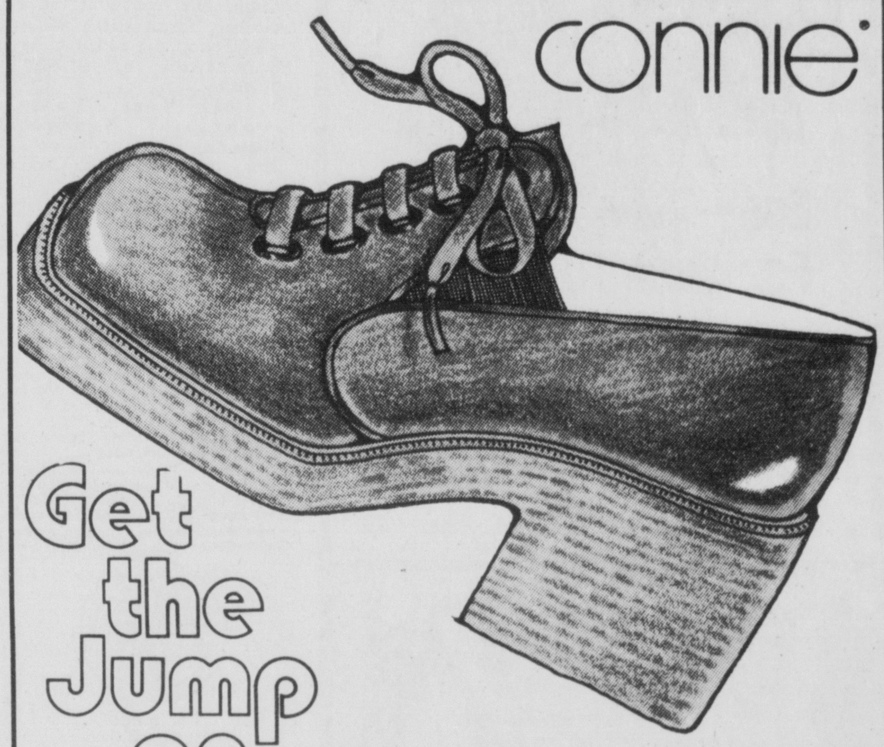

Foodservice operators from the southeast region of the state who wish to attend the meeting should make reservations with Ralph Gremminger, chapter secretary, St. Francis Hospital, 825 Good Hope, Cape Girardeau 63701, or phone 334- 4461, extension 52.

New Madrid County Homemakers visit St. Louis

By ALICE M. HILL
AND REBECCA NISTENDIRK
Area Textile and Clothing Specialists

NEW MADRID— The yearbook of any member of New Madrid County Extension Homemakers Association reveals many topics for lessons, among them citizenship, health, safety, international relations, youth, clothing, food, home management and care for the aged.

Special training sessions with home economists prepare local club leaders to effectively present most lessons to the local clubs, thus enriching the lives of those who attend the meetings. Each lesson is in effect a form of cultural art, but one topic of enrichment is labeled "Cultural Arts."

Someone has said that it is like the topping on desserts. It might be presented by home economists in a special lesson, but usually it takes another form such as a special shopping trip, visiting a museum or similar activities.

This year, home economist Rebecca Nistendirk led members on a triple- treat trip to St. Louis to visit Grant's Farm and Crestwood Shopping Center and to attend the Municipal Opera.

At first, it seemed that a 37 passenger bus would not be filled and the trip would be canceled, but guests outside the clubs soon sent in more than enough reservations. A large bus was chartered as more members and guests sent in reservations to Mrs. Vi Gill, New Madrid County Treasurer, who eventually had to return a few checks after a 49 passenger bus was filled to capacity.

The bus of the Cape- St. Louis Bus Line, driven by Wayne Fuquay, left Ramada Inn near Sikeston Aug. 7.

Besides the driver, Walter Powell of Sikeston, and B. B. Conrad of Matthews were welcome visitors.

The first stop was at Grant's Farm, once the home of Ulysses S. Grant, the general who led the North to victory during the Civil War and later became the 18th President of the United States, 1869- 1877. Besides the log house which was made of hand- hewn timbers, other items of interest were the Conestoga wagon, a covered wagon, and a cart which was used to haul wood to town for sale.

Now the farm is the property of Anheuser- Busch. Visitors may see the famous Clydesdale horses and pictures of famous horses of the past, as well as many many blue ribbons won in the past. Visitors may drink free beer with popcorn which they buy. Novel diesel-powered trains keep busy transporting visitors through areas where they might see deer, bison, long- horned cattle, goats, camels and a baby elephant.

The second bus stop was at Crestwood Shopping Center where all went window shopping and a few made purchases. After eating, the passengers boarded the bus to go to the Municipal Opera where they saw Debbie Reynolds in "Irene," a musical comedy based on the original play by James Montgomery from an adaptation by Harry Rigby of the book by Hugh Wheeler and Joseph Stein.

There was humorous dialogue, fancy dancing and snappy singing of many songs which included "Alice Blue Gown" and "You Made Me Love You." It was amusing to see Irene (Debbie Reynolds) who knew next to nothing about tuning pianos, attempt to tune a Steinway. Anyway, she changed her title from Ninth Avenue Girl to Contessa and her mother became "Duchess." They successfully crashed high society and both landed their men.

If the purpose of cultural arts is to add pleasure, charm and satisfaction to life, then the trip to St. Louis scored high. Instead of talking or even thinking of troubles, aches and pains, those who went could be heard talking of some phase of the triple-treat trip, inevitably ending with remarks about Irene's (Miss Reynold's) fancy gown.

What difference if it was about 2 o'clock in the morning when they returned to the starting place- Sikeston's Ramada Inn. Of course, they were happy to return home, but it was with a new light in their eyes and a question on their lips. "When may we go again?"

Those who attended the triple- treat trip were:

Mrs. Louis Martin, Mrs. Edward L. Hardin, Mrs. Judy Blankenship, Mrs. Alice Hill and Mrs. Marie Martin of Kewanee; Mrs. Orrin Hunt, Mrs. Kathleen Wissman, Mrs. Willard Sanders, Mrs. Hugh Rogers, Mrs. Charles Goolsby, Mrs. Kay Couch, Mrs. Glenda Altom, Mrs. Lil Acord, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powell, Miss Katy Merideth and Mrs. Dorothy Merideth of Sikeston.

Mrs. Beatrice Depro, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Conrad, Mrs. C. O. Hawkins, Mrs. Shirley Whiffen, Mrs. Charles Gardner, Mrs. Alfred Bird, Mrs. Lester M. King and Mrs. Bert Latham of Matthews; Mrs. Sue Ella Mills, Mrs. Debbie Brown, Mrs. Judy Tackett Williams, Mrs. Mary Bramlett, Miss Donna Tannehill, Miss Judy Tope, Mrs. Allene Tucker and Mrs. Dorothy Morrison of Lilbourn.

Miss Dorothy Conway, Miss Marguerite Dawson, Mrs. Millie Robertson, Mrs. Hubert Harris, Miss Rebecca Nistendirk, Mrs. Ida Mae Ellis, Mrs. John Edwards, Mrs. Ray Fowler and Mrs. Virginia Keaton of New Madrid; Mrs. Nelson Lumsden of Canalou; Mrs. Pansy Crosby of Parma; Mrs. Willie Fortner of Tallapoosa; Mrs. J. C. Gallaher Jr. of Hayti and Mrs. Henry Hulshof of Portageville.

Ann Landers

Adult bed-wetters given good advice

Dear Ann Landers: I am not much of a writer but I have something to say that might help a lot of people. Please, Ann, fix up my English and print my letter. I am 29 years old and have some advice for bed-wetters. At least nine out of ten bed-wetters would like to blame their bladder or their kidneys, but the problem is rarely physical. It's almost always emotional.

My parents used to fight something awful. The screaming was terrible. One night there was a bad accident. All five of us kids were put into a children's home, My older sister stopped wetting her bed a few months later. My younger brothers and I kept on.

I was spanked and made to wash the bedsheets by hand. I even had my face rubbed with the wet sheets. I was threatened and told I would have to sleep in the bathtub with no pillows or blankets. For one week they woke me up all night long at three-hour intervals. It didn't help. The bed was wet in the morning.

One day a wonderful teacher told me that worrying and being afraid of things didn't solve problems. She suggested that I train myself to relax at night and put everything out of my mind except comforting thoughts. She told me to talk to myself, to say, "Relax toes," and then to wiggle them and rest. Next, "Relax ankles," rotate them and relax. "Relax knees," and so on. Then she told me to concentrate on my pillow--- how soft and comfortable it was. Next, my mattress, how firm and smooth. Then the blankets, how fluffy and warm. Finally I would be completely relaxed and fall asleep.

She suggested light exercise before going to bed and sometimes a cup of warm milk. It all helped.

To every adult bed-wetter, I say this: You can't expect the problem to disappear overnight. And you can be sure there will be periodic relapses, but don't be discouraged. I have been married five years and the program I have outlined has changed me from a constant bed-wetter to almost never. -- Victory At Last

Dear Victory: Here's your letter and I didn't have to do much fixing at all. Thanks for your suggestions. I'm willing to bet you've helped a great many people today. And THAT thought should help you sleep like a baby tonight.

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest your letters about "telephonaholics" or "yakking housewives." I am married to one and I can tell you it's more than a nuisance. It's a threat to our marriage.

My wife is on the phone when I come from work. I usually take the dinner off the stove or out of the oven and eat with the kids. She waves at me when I come into the kitchen but she makes no move to get off the phone. Many evenings I bathe the kids and put them to bed because my wife is busy jakking.

She claims our marriage is failing because of lack of communication. How can we communicate when she is always on the phone?

Please keep telling those yakkers to get off the horn and look around. They might be surprised at what they see. —— Married To One

Dear Married: I'd like to suggest that your wife make one more call--- to a marriage counselor. The two of you need to sit down together to air your grievances. Your wife is talking on the phone because she doesn't want to talk to YOU. It's her escape. When she is able to face this she'll have made the first move toward real communication.

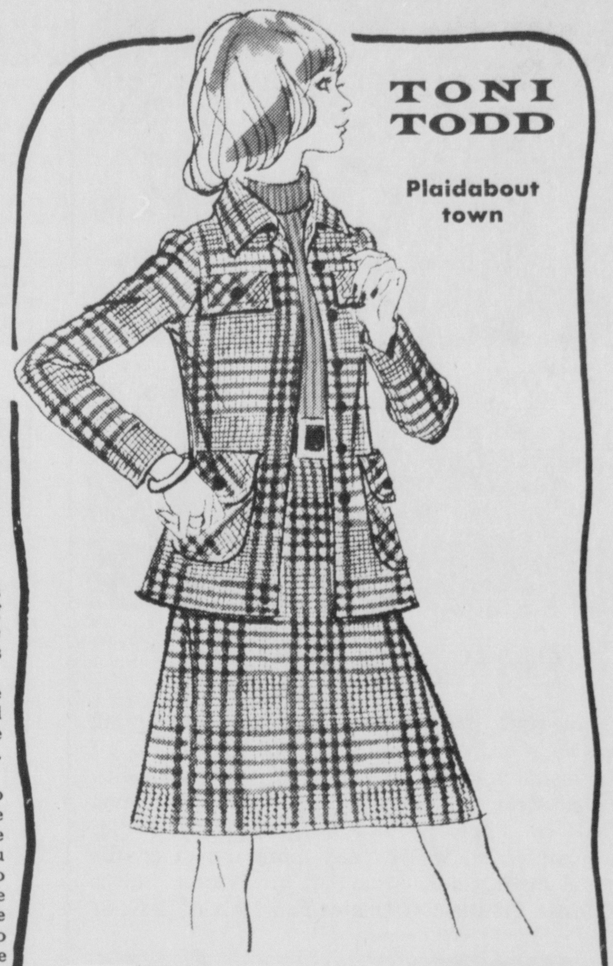

Got those wedding bell blues over costs . . . guest list . . . what to wear . . . and other details? Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped evnelope (16 cents postage0 to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Work progressing

Renovation of the New Madrid County jail progresses as employes of Bien Construction Co. of Dexter install new, steel, jalousie- type windows with concealed steel bars. The 59- year - old jail is being repaired and improved at a cost of $47,000 and, upon completion, will exceed minimum standards for penal institutions. From left are Warren Belvin and Chester St. Clair of Dexter and Melvin Clark of Bernie.

Auditing books

An audit of New Madrid County offices by examiners from the state auditor's office was started Monday at the county courthouse in New Madrid by Louis Naeger, left, of Ste. Genevieve and T. J. Bowers of Salem. The audit, which covers the years of 1969 through 1972, is expected to be completed in about two months.

$4 million to be spent on child abuse study

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Child abuse is more widespread than ever imagined, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Casper Weinberger said here Wednesday. He said its incidence justifies HEW's planned expenditure of $4 million to study the problem.

Weinberger reviewed programs for treating victims of child abuse at Children's Marcy Hospital here. A summary of the Mercy program said child abuse is "a problem of the affluent as well as non-affluent. It does not focus on one ethnic group ... abuse will occur in all age ranges."

The secretary said the planned expenditure is four times the amount spent previously and will place particular emphasis on children maltreated physically. He said he does not necessarily believe the incidence of child beating is rising, but that more is becoming known as laws take effect requiring doctors to report suspected cases.

Weinberger said his visit to Mercy was his first exposure to a specialized program for child abuse. The hospital's executive director, Dr. Richard Dreher, said 64 children were admitted in the last fiscal year. Dr. Dreher said about half are 3 years old or less.

The doctor said 40 per cent of the children who are returned to their homes eventually come back "much more seriously injured or dead."

The hospital report said more than half the cases involve a person other than the parent, such as a baby-sitter or boy friend or relative. Dr. Dreher said psychiatric counseling for known child-beaters might be helpful, but said he doubted the effectiveness of informal "rap" sessions because "whatever compels them to this happens in an instant, when the child is with that person."

Battle continues for gay lib recognition

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dr. James C. Olson, chancellor of the University of Missouri-Kansas City, said here Wednesday that recognition of a gay liberation group by the university would not be in the school's best interest.

Olson's statement came at a hearing on the Gay People's Union request for recognition as a legitimate campus organization. Similar testimony was taken Monday in Columbia where another gay lib group seeks recognition.

The hearing before examiner Cullen Coil, Jefferson City lawyer and former Missouri Su reme Court commissioner was asked by the Board of Curators.

Olson said his main reason for opposing recognition was his "layman's understanding" and conviction that homosexuality is an illness and is abnormal.

The chancellor also opposed the group's stated plan to provide counseling to members. He said it would be improper for a student organization to undertake the counseling function.

As in the Columbia hering, conflicting expert testimony on the illness argument was heard. Dr. Harold M. Voth of the Menninger Foundation at Topeka, said he considers homosexuality an abnormal deviation and illness.

Voth was disputed by Dr. Thomas Szasz, author of several texts, who said many psychiatrists believe homosexuality should be dropped from the list of psychiatric illnesses.

Glen Strobel, a psychology graduate student and organizer of the gay lib group, denied it intended to disrupt campus life or promote homosexuality. He echoed remarks of the pro-libbers at Columbia, saying the group's objectives were educational.

Washington report

New farm bill signed into law

By STUART SYMINGTON
U.S. Senator - Missouri

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congress has approved and the President has signed legislation to extend and amend the Agriculture Act of 1970, with significant revisions designed to help meet the growing food crisis we are facing in this country.

TARGET PRICES. Under the new target price system provided in the bill, the government will guarantee minimum prices to a farmer for every bushel or pound he produces on his allotted acreage.

If a farmer is unable to obtain the target prices on the open market, the government will pay him the difference between the target price and the lower market price; but if prices remain above the target levels, no government payment will be made.

Under the current program, enacted in 1970 when surpluses rather than shortages were the problem, farmers who agreed to keep land out of production automatically receive government payments even if market prices give them a high return.

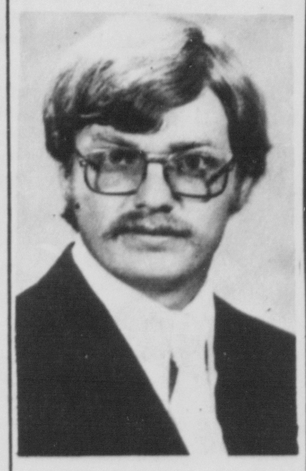

The new farm bill sets target prices at $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn and 38 cents a pound for cotton.

As this report is written, wheat is well over $4.00 a bushel, corn over $3.00 a bushel, and cotton above 60 cents a pound.

LOANS. The bill increases basic loans for wheat from $1.25 a bushel to $1.37 a bushel, corn from $1.00 a bushel to $1.10 a bushel, and provides a minimum national base acreage of 11 million acres for cotton and adjustments in the cotton loan level to 90 percent of current world price.

Dairy loan levels will increase from 75 percent to 80 percent of parity – a term used to relate the status of the farmer to the rest of theconomy by comparing prices paid by the farmer and those which he receives for his products. The bill also provides for a feasibility study of limiting dairy imports to two percent of annual domestic production.

The new farm legislation also provides: up to a 75 million bushel emergency food reserve of wheat, feedgrains and soybeans in case of a major disaster in the United States; new export regulations that will require the Department of Agriculture to make public reports within a week on all wheat, feedgrain, cotton and oilseed export contracts; extension of the Food for Peace program (PL 480); and authorization for grants for permanent conservation practices under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program.

Brown Shoe to expand

CARUTHERSVILLE— The Brown Shoe Co. factory on Fair Boulevard, is making plans for the third major expansion of an industry in the city this year.

A multi- million dollar Caruthersville Shipyard expansion was announced two months ago and, prior to that, expansion of the Colson Co. was announced. Work has begun both at Colson and the shipyard on additional buildings.

The addition at Brown Shoe is expected to be approximately one- third the size of the present building, or about 20,000 square feet. The additional space will be back and west of the present building.

Construction on the building will begin in the near future. When the building is completed, the work force at the shoe factory will be expanded.

The expansion of the three industries will create an increase in the number of jobs.

Before construction can begin, a new drainage ditch will have to be dug north to south behind the shoe factory. This will replace the present large drainage ditch which carries surface water across the west side of the property behind the present building.

The site of the present shoe factory is directly across Fair Boulevard from the old shoe factory.

The reason for the move was because the old building was in need of much repair and was a fire hazard.

Construction began on the new shoe company building in June 1962.

What's the law?

The case of the busybody neighbors

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Emma was a busybody who burned her scandals at both ends. She lived in an apartment house where nothing passed her unnoticed. As example, one husband was as busy as a bee working nights and Emma knew exactly who was trying to steal his honey.

Needless to say, Emma's neighbors, over a period of time, found her prying very trying. And finally they insisted that she be booted out of their apartment house.

"She's not a neighbor," the neighbors protested in court. "She's a warden. She knows when a person is going to sneeze three days before they do. And it's getting to be downright disconcerting."

"I don't know why they're so upset," responded Emma with great puzzlement. "I love them all. I'm, just interested in what they're doing. I'm a concerned observer. Certainly, I can't be evicted for that."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you evict busybody Emma?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while a busybody who sticks his uninvited nose into the affairs of others in certainly far from an ideal neighbor, such reprehensible and obnoxious conduct is not sufficient legally to require a tenant's eviction. However, warned the judge, it can become sufficient cause if the tenant does not mend his ways after becoming aware that his actions are not appreciated by his neighbors.

from the Upper Room

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity! (Psalm 133:1)

PRAYER: Our Father, when unpleasant circumstances tempt us to complain and blame others, draw us back to Thee, the source of all goodness and love. May we ever express Thy sprit, regardless of provications. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Quade said the eggs were stolen from a cold storage shed east of Marionville owned by Lawson Cox.

A warrant has been issued for one man and the county attorney is deciding how many of the others will be prosecuted.

Soaring prices threaten cattle ranchers

MISSION, S.D. (AP) — Howard Lamoureaux is one of the high-rollers of the Great Plains.

He has survived blizzards and droughts for half a century while building a 17,000-acre cattle ranch. But he's not sure how he survived the high cost of raising beef, and says ranchers have much more to lose than consumers from today's soaring market prices.

"We can lose everything we have," he says.

Lamoureaux and his grandson, Bill Potter, operate the 27square mile spread between Mission, S.D., and Valentine, Neb., in the heart of the cattle country of the Upper Midwest. They raise about 500 head of their own cattle and graze another 2,500 head for cowmen who have the money to buy calves but don't have the grass to fatten them.

The ranchers buy 400-pound calves in the fall, feed them to about 800 pounds during the next 12 months and then sell to feeders who fatten the animals for commercial slaughter.

Last fall Lamoureaux and Potter sold 350 head of yearlings for $42.50 a hundredweight. Last week they rejected an offer of $50 a hundredweight.

"I asked $55 and was turned down," said Potter, 25. "Two days later I heard feeders were paying $65 a hundred for yearlings. The market is so wild nobody knows what they're worth."

Potter said his yearlings will go to sales barns after the Sept. 12 beef freeze ends. "We don't know what they're worth but an auction should get us a fair price," he said.

Lamoureaux, in his 70s, and Potter, an Air Force veteran who has worked with his grandfather most of his life, said the prices sound good but there's another side of the coin. They said overhead costs have tightened the profit margin to the point where only the high prices at the market are saving the business.

"Last year we paid $220 a ton for the high-protein feed that supplements the wild hay we feed the cattle," Potter said. "Today it costs $350 a ton.

"That was a $25,000 tractor you saw being hauled away for repairs," the rancher said. "We've got two more rigs for cutting hay that cost $15,000 apiece. You can't buy a tractor for less than $10,000."

Potter said the next problem may be the accelerating cost of purchasing calves for the next crop. "Last year we paid $52.50 a hundredweight for the calves. The price could go out of sight this year."

His grandfather added: "The only bigger gambler than a cattle rancher is a farmer."

"Sometimes I really get angry," Potter said. "I wished the meat boycotters could come out here some week in the winter when we're working 10 or 11 hours a day in below-zero weather feeding the animals. We work Sunday mornings, and last winter I worked all day on Christmas and New Year's.

"Starting Monday we'll have to work 14 straight days getting the hay up. Then we'll have to sort cattle and get them ready to sell. After we buy our new crop of calves, we vaccinate them, dehorn and brand them and check for illnesses."

Ten miles to the northwest toward the community of Mission, there is another Lamoureaux operation, smaller in land but larger in the number of livestock.

Howard's brother, Claude, owned and operated the ranch for more than a quarter of a century until his death two months ago. Bob Lamoureaux, Claude's son, is looking after it today while continuing his job for the Caterpillar Tractor Co. in Peoria, Ill.

The ranch covers 13,000 acres and is considered by cattlemen in South Dakota and northern Nebraska as perhaps the best balanced operation in the region. Its lush pastures provide feed for more than a 1,000 cattle and calves.

"Ranchers are taking a bum rap for the high cost of beef," said Bob Lamoureaux, a middle-aged civil engineer. "In 1948, my dad sold 400 head of yearlings for 30 cents a pound. Today they may be worth 60 cents a pound. But the cost of machinery, feed supplements and labor has increased sevenfold."

Howard and Bob Lamoureaux own about 50 square miles of South Dakota prairie worth more than $2 million. They acknowledge that between them they have about $200,000 worth of machinery. The auction price of their combined cow and cattle herds would bring them more than $1 million.

Howard Lamoureaux says a rancher is fortunate to make 2 per cent on his investment.

"But," said Bob Lamoureaux, "we could make more money if we had the money we have invested in ranching in government bonds instead. But we have two things going for us: the continuing appreciation of the value of the land and the fact that we are doing something we enjoy."

Would you hire you?

Of course you would.

You work hard. Care about what you do. And you know your job inside and out.

That's what everybody says.

And for most of us, it's true. But it's also true that we could all do better. No matter what kind of work we do. And we'd all have more to show for it.

More money, for one thing. Because we'd be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.

For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. That should help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollar worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride, we'll be protecting jobs here at home. And we'll have a deeper sense of pride in the jobs we've got.

All this can happen. And more.

Think of what you can do to make it happen.

America. It only works as well as we do.

State Fair participation termed 'double cross'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Will Davis, executive director of the state Democratic Committee, says an agreement by both political parties not to set up campaign booths at the Missouri State Fair was broken by the Republicans.

Davis said the parties, both "financially strapped," agreed by letter earlier this summer to cancel space at the fair in Sedalia, which begins Thursday.

But he said Albert Rendlen Jr., the new GOP state chairman, called him Tuesday morning to say the Republicans would operate a tent and distribute literature.

Davis called it a "double cross" and said he learned from the superintendent of concessions at the fair the Republicans had discussed obtaining a space for a month prior to signing a contract.

"Two days notice before the fair opened meant that we could not ppossibly print thousands of pieces of printed material needed for distribution during the 10 days of the fair," Davis said.

He said such acts may cause citizens to believe "that Watergate methods are a political way of life."

Rendlen was unavailable for comment.

Senate Committee.

But he said the Senate Watergate committee had failed to disclose "the slightest evidence...that I had any knowledge of the planning for the Watergate break-in."

Nixon's nationwide television and radio speech and accompanying statement defended his efforts to learn the truth about Watergate—the facts of which the President said, he did not learn until March 21 this year.

He concluded with a plea to "not stay so mired in Watergate that we fail to respond to challenges of surpassing importance to America and the world."

Nixon's long-awaited statement did not offer rebuttal Watergate questions. "It has not been my intention to attempt any such comprehensive and detailed response," Nixon explained.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., commented that the president's address "did not add anything to his other speeches that would tend to divert suspicion from him." But Goldwater said he supports the President in his appeal for Americans to recognize dangers to the country and the world.

George Bush, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the speech "credible and very reasonable." He said he is convinced the American people want the country freed "from the Watergate obsession."

His counterpart, Robert Strauss of the Democratic National Committee, said the President "neither added nor subtracted anything from where we were before he went on the air."

Nixon said his own investigation was prompted because "I learned of some of the activities upon which charges of cover-up are now based."

Three arrests

Walter Earl Richards, 113 Thompson, has been arrested by police and charged with stealing merchandise valued over $50. He allegedly took a gun Tuesday from Homestead Distributing Co. on East Malone Avenue.

Other arrests include Dollie Erlene Vaughn, 241 E. Kathleen, and Robert Lee Porter of Sikeston, driving while intoxicated.

Reuss shuts out Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Houston's Jerry Reuss had early jitters against his old teammates Wednesday night, then the veteran of the Astros' outfield settled him down.

Jim Wynn, surprising even himself, nabbed a line drive in the second inning and Reuss steadied to trim the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

"It changed the whole game around," said Reuss, marveling at a shoestring catch by Wynn of Mike Tyson's drive to right field that stymied a two-on, one-out Cardinals threat.

"It's not inevitable, but I always seem to have one bad inning an outing," Reuss said. "That was mine tonight, and I was just lucky to get out of it."

The 6-foot-5 Reuss, a native St. Louisan and a Cardinals left-hander until traded last year, fashioned a five-hitter and outdueled Rick Wise, who permitted 10.

After Joe Torre and Luis Melendez singled leading off the second, only Wise, 13-8, and Lou Brock reached him for hits.

"The first couple of innings I wasn't getting the breaking ball over," explained the 24-year-old Reuss, whose shutout was his second in a 13-8 campaign. "after that it came."

"I think I've thrown harder in games earlier this year," he added, "but this is the best I've thrown in a long time."

Reuss and Wise dueled scorelessly until the Astros' Roger Metzger singled to the right of Cards shortstop Mike Tyson with one out in the sixth.

Cesar Cedeno followed with a double down the right field line and Bob Watson banged a Wise delivery over first base for a second two-base hit and a 2-0 lead.

As Reuss sailed to the finish, permitting only three walks, Houston scored its final run in the ninth on Doug Rader's double, an intentional walk and Tommy Helms' single.

The loss was the Cards' ninth in 10 games, but it might not have occurred except for the Wynn catch.

"I committed myself; it was either do or die," said Wynn, who doubled Melendez off first base following his lengthy run. "I didn't want to play Tyson too shallow."

"I thought maybe he was going to play it into a single, but he kept coming," Reuss said. "If he hadn't caught it it might've been a double, a triple or maybe even a home run."

Broncos next for Big Red

DENVER, Colo. — Coming off a gratifying first-game performance, the St. Louis Football Cardinals try for their second straight preseason victory Saturday night when they battle the Denver Broncos at Mile High Stadium. Kickoff is set for 9 p.m., CDT.

It will be the third time the teams have met in preseason competition. In the earlier games the Broncos scored a 26-16 victory in 1970 at Denver, and the Cardinals won, 17-13, last year in St. Louis. The first regular season game between the teams is set November 4 at Busch Memorial Stadium.

It was a happy beginning for Coach Don Coryell and the Cardinals in their opener last week as the Big Red topped the San Diego Chargers, 17-13. For Coryell, who posted a 104-19-2 record in 12 years as coach at San Diego State, it marked a successful homecoming and NFL coaching debut.

"I was very pleased," said Coryell, who received the game ball after the victory. "We won the game, and we also were able to use nearly all of our players. We played hard and made some errors as every team does at this time of the year. We still have many things we must improve on, but the willingness, spirit and attitude of the players make it all very encouraging."

Spotting Johnny Unitas and the Chargers a -0 first-period lead, the Cardinals struck back with all 17 of their poins in the second quarter. Quarterback Jim Hart led the Big Red on 70 and 80-yard scoring drives and wound up his first half of action completing seven of 13 passes for 107 yards. During the two touchdowns marches, he connected on six of seven passes.

Running back Donny Anderson scored both touchdowns on runs of one and six yards while veteran Leo Hayden and rookies Terry Metcalf and Ken Garrett also sparkled in the backfield. Jim Bakken added a 31- yard field goal for the other St. Louis points.

Defensively, the spark was supplied by rookie safety Clarence Duren who intercepted a pair of Unitas passes in the eventful second period. The first set up Bakken's field goal, and the second blunted a Charger drive deep in Cardinal territory.

San Diego scored a touchdown in the third quarter to narrow the score to 17-13 and late in the game moved close to the Big Red goal. However, the Cardinal defense rose to the occasion. Duren broke up a key play, and the game ended with the Chargers on the St. Louis seven- yard line.

The Broncos nearly registered an upset in their pre-season opener Friday night. Behind Charley Johnson's passing. Denver took a 10-0 lead over Washington, but the Redskins rebounded for a 14-10 victory in Washington.

Following Saturday's game, the Cardinals will open their home season August 25 in the annual Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game against the New York Jets.

Robert fashions no-hitter

Oran's Donny Robert pitched a no- hitter last night to set Vanduser back in the loser's bracket of the District Amateur Softball Tourney. Oran blanked them 6- 0. Kelso handed New Hamburg a 5- 0 loss to eliminate them from their tourney. Tom Russell had the shut- out.

Kelso controlled the game from the opening inning. Tom Reinagel hit a two run homer in the first to put Kelso on the scoreboard. A triple by Mike Miller scored another run and the Kelso team had a 3- 0 edge. Single runs in the third and fifth gave Kelso their final and winning score. Tom Russell was the winning pitcher, striking out 14 and walking one. Otto Kern suffered the loss.

Oran played a perfect game behind the pitching of Donny Robert. They earned six runs on eight hits while keeping the Vanduser team from advancing. Oran picked up their first run in the first inning and added three more to that in the fifth when Lyndon Duncan hit a three-run homer. Kirby Hahn came up in the seventh and slammed a round- tripper to bring in Oran's final two runs. Bill Gilliland was the losing pitcher. Robert had 13 strike- outs to his credit for the night. In his previous performance in the tourney, he pitched a one- hitter.

Tonight Jackson will face Vanduser in the loser's bracket with Scott City taking on Sikeston in the winner's bracket.

CITY OF SIKESTON, MO.

Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along Russell Street from Garwood Street to 1260 Feet north of Garwood Street in the city of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the council of the city of Sikeston, state of Missouri, as follows: section 1: that the council of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the city of Sikeston. section 2: that the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. section 3: that the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.85 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. section 4: that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the state of Missouri and the ordinances of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the city council the general revenue fund of the city of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. section 5: that any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the state of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the industrial commission of Missouri. section 6: that the city clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 6th day of August, 1973. Approved: Frank Ferrell, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

Then . . . and now San Franciscans are observing the centennial of a national landmark — the city's famous cable cars. Inventor Andrew S. Hallidie piloted the first cars, above, down Clay Street on the foggy morning of Aug. 2, 1873, to inaugurate the service still keeping San Franciscans on the move, below. The U.S. Interior Department designated the cable cars a national historic landmark in 1964.

White House planning ecological Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP)— Ecology- minded families who have switched from cut to live Christmas trees will be joined by the White House this year.

The National Park Service announced Monday that this year it will transplant a tree from Pennsylvania to be planted behind the White House and used for the annual holiday observance.

In the past, huge trees have been cut in various states and erected near the White House for the two- week observance.

The new Christmas tree, a Colorado Blue Spruce donated by the National Arborist Association, will be transported from Shickshinny, Pa., and planted about Oct. 15.

Restrictions to be eased at Clearwater

PIEDMONT— The Army Corps of Engineers will ease rigid restrictions on camping at Clearwater Lake to permit more campers to use facilities there for the rest of the summer, a group of lake- area businessmen was told here Tuesday.

Representatives of the Clearwater Lake Association, whose members have businesses along the lake had sought the meeting with Army engineer officers after the number of campers allowed to use camp facilities was severely restricted beginning June 22.

Col. Donald Weinert, Little Rock district engineer, and Brad Jordan, Clearwater Lake resident engineer, heard complaints from association members at the meeting and suggestions for creating campsite "overflow areas" from Kenneth Otke, a member of the Missouri Park Board staff.

Weinert said overflow camping areas would be designated outside the permanent camp sites, each of which has a camping pad, table and fireplace. However, he warned that indiscriminate camping will not be allowed.

Jordan said the June 23 policy permits only one family to camp at each permanent site. There are only 39 permanent sites at the Bluff View campground, 26 at Webb Creek, 99 at Piedmont Park and 82 at Riverroads, he said.

Richard Goetz, president of the association, said before the policy went into effect, campers would number as many as 200 to 250 family units at the Bluff View area. Many St. Louis area residents use the Clearwater Lake camping facilities on weekends and summer vacations, he noted.

Weinert said the overflow areas would be designated immediately. Jordan, asked to estimate how many more campers would be allowed to use the camping areas, said about 200 additional sites would be avilable at Bluff View and 150 sites serving both the Piedmont Park and Riverroads areas.

Angry association members said the new restrictive camping policy caused a drop in business from 12 to 50 per cent during July. They sent complaints to congressmen and state officials, saying campers were being turned away and that gates to camping areas were being locked at 10:30 p.m., also preventing fishermen from reaching docks for nighttime fishing.
